

Daniel Cowton scoops outstanding awards at Runshaw College Awards

We are thrilled to announce that two of our colleagues were recognised at the Runshaw College Awards last night.

Daniel Cowton won two awards, including Overall Apprentice of the Year, while Alice Abraham was also rewarded for being one of the top young achievers.

Although Daniel knew that he would be the recipient of the Apprenticeship Excellence Award which is amazing, the surprise of the night for Daniel was that he also scooped the Overall Apprentice of the Year Award. What an outstanding achievement!

Daniel started work at Chorley Council straight out of school and very quickly became a very popular member of the team. His confidence levels increased week on week and part way through the year he secured a position in the IT Help Desk becoming instrumental in supporting the roll out of an IT project at the Council. As a result, he received an award from the Chief Executive of Chorley and South Ribble Council.

This is an amazing achievement for an apprentice straight from school. Daniel has now progressed on to the Infrastructure Technician Level 3 Standard.

Congratulations Daniel! And we'll have more on Alice's great achievement next week.
